TRauma Awareness For First Responders (TRAFFIR) - KA2 Erasmus+ partnership project to support professionals on developing the key competencies in dealing with emergency first respond situations.

OUR MEDIA

Quarantine time

Year 2020 surprised us with the coronavirus pandemic, travel restrictions and global lockdown. This time was challenging for everyone of us, although first responders were exposed to its impact and consequences the most. Our team is working hard to ease them in dealing with exposure to a critical stress incidents.

THE TOOLKIT

Train the Trainers Programme ToolKit

The aim of the ToolKit is for the trainers to learn how to widen participation and increase trauma awareness, emotional self-regulation and preparedness for response to any traumatic event.

Programme tool delivery can be through a mix of e-learning and classroom learning to enable flexible delivery taking into account busy days jobs of the final target beneficiaries – first responders.

Transnational project meetings

Due to restrictions on foreign travels, project's TPMs were held... at our homes!

Although we only saw each other on the monitor, thanks to the presence of all Partners, we were able to stay up to date and discuss issues important for the implementation of the project. One of the main topics was certainly the coronavirus and its impact on our activities and the progress of the project. Despite the challenges posed by the current situation, we were able to determine the course of project's actions and set deadlines for tasks.

INFORMATION ABOUT THE TRAFFIR PROJECT

TRauma Awareness For First Responders (TRAFFIR) - addressing identified skills gaps in critical incident stress and trauma intervention

OVERVIEW

Context & Background:

Any form of crisis (trauma) incident stress management requires a suite of intervention tools in order to minimise the risk of PTSD (Post Traumatic Stress Disorder) amongst first responders. Whilst the researches about that are 20 years old, there is still no whole systems' provision for educators in this field.

By the end of the project we will have created:

- Comparative Anaysis
- Training Protocols, Materials and Guidelines
- Train The Trainers Programme Toolkit

Aims:

To develop a whole systems approach to improve key competences in dealing with emergency first response situations in order to mitigate the impact of repeated or singular exposure to a critical stress incident.

Objectives

TRAFFIR will address gaps in trauma interventions with a robustly evaluated development of a training programme flexible enough to be delivered in 5 different countries with learning outcomes and mapped to the descriptors of level 3 European Qualifications Framework (EQF) for other organisations in other countries to adapt for local use.

Activities

Two attendees from each partner will participate in 6 transnational meetings with a purpose to plan, implement pilot delivery, evaluate and review a fit for purpose the TRAFFIR toolkit.

Each partner will host a learning/transnational meeting and also send 4 staff to a short term staff training event to pilot the toolkit then cascade to others upon their return to their own organization.

Results & Impact

Partners have identified six key workshops, that combined, will create a systems approach to address current skills gaps. We will work with stakeholders to populate the modules with appropriate content and learning outcomes. We will develop an on-line training programme to address skills gaps which will be freely available to the sector in partner languages. TRAFFIR will be presented at local multiplier event conferences and available on the project website.
